

Welcome

to the Russian Studies online semester programme!

We offer

Knowledge

Knowledge on Russian history, culture, society and politics from researchers on these issues

Opportunity

Opportunity to get familiar with Northern Russian culture

Perspective

Regional perspective: insight into Russian society on the case of the North

The autumn programme “Russian Studies” consists of the courses:

5 ECTS

Soviet and Contemporary Russian History (XXth century)

At the course you will get acquainted with the “Soviet” as a complex historical, cultural and intellectual phenomena, its outcomes for Russia and the world. You will also know about the contemporary issues and the Soviet component in post-Soviet Russian identities, memory etc.

5 ECTS

Culture of the Russian North

The course is designed to give an insight into regional cultural diversity in the country. You will discover, that even the remote areas of the North have a rich heritage in folklore, architecture, craftwork, music, daily life etc. And you will understand, why the Russian North is still so attractive for people from all over the world!

6 ECTS

Contemporary Russian Politics

Aim of the course is to give insight into Russian political system and contemporary processes taking place in Russian politics in the post-Soviet era. You will take a look into relations between the state and society, into Russian foreign policy etc.

How to apply

Information on how to apply is available via the link

1

Semester

September – December 2020

2

Application Deadline

15 July 2020

3

Level

Bachelor

Apply Now

Take a look into Russia
with the help of its researchers and inhabitants!

